GDPR COMPLIANCE STATEMENT

We adhere to the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). The GDPR expands the privacy rights granted to individuals located in the European Union, Iceland, Liechtenstein or Norway (collectively, the “EU”) and requires companies that collect and process personal data of these individuals to comply with certain privacy regulations. Personal data is any information related directly or indirectly to a natural person. The GDPR applies to companies that collect and process the personal data of individuals in the EU and have a presence in the EU (e.g. offices or establishments), as well as companies that do not have any presence in the EU but target individuals in the EU (e.g. by offering goods or services to such individuals) or monitor the behavior of individuals in the EU. The GDPR is designed to strengthen the security and protection of personal data of individuals in the EU, as well as provide businesses with a structured framework on how to collect, process, use, and share such personal data.

If you are an individual in the EU, we will provide you with information about whether we hold any of your personal data upon a reasonable, good faith request, to the extent required by and in accordance with applicable law. In certain cases, you may also have a right, with respect to your personal data collected to:

- correct or update any of your personal data that is inaccurate;
- to restrict or limit the ways in which we use your personal data;
- to object to the processing of your personal data;
- to request the deletion of your personal data; and
- to obtain a copy of your personal data in an easily accessible format.

To submit a request, please send an email message to taryn@islandlifekids.com. Because we want to avoid taking action regarding your personal data at the direction of someone other than you, we may ask you for information verifying your identity. We will respond to your request within a reasonable timeframe.

You also have the right to withdraw your consent to our processing of your personal data, where our processing is solely based on your consent, subject to certain limitations at law. If you withdraw your consent to the use or sharing of your personal data for the purposes set out in this Privacy Policy, you may not have access to all (or any) of the Services, and we might not be able to provide you all (or any) related services. Please note that, in certain cases, we may continue to process your personal data after you have withdrawn consent and requested that we delete your personal data, if we have a legal basis to do so. For example, we may retain certain data if we need to do so to comply with an independent legal obligation, if we still need the data for the lawful purposes for which we obtained the data, or if it is necessary to do so to pursue our legitimate interest in keeping our services and operations safe and secure.

If you have any complaints regarding our privacy practices, you have the right to make a complaint with your national data protection authority (i.e., supervisory authority).

CHANGES TO THIS POLICY

We will change this Privacy Policy from time to time. When we make changes, we will revise the date at the top of the policy and, in some cases, will notify you through the Services, such as via the Island Life Kids website, email, or other communication if required by law.
